ALLIED DRY HEAT PLATOON

If the Heavy Rangers are the steel punch that delivers the killing blow to an enemy, then Ozz 117 and his Tank Hunters are the flame that cleanses the battlefield. Specially selected by Ozz 117 for their grit, the hearts of these men turn cold even while their weapons burn hot.

Chosen for missions where scorched earth is not just a byproduct but an objective, Ozz 117 and his men strike fear in those that are unfortunate enough to be caught in the dance of their flames.

PLATOON ADVANTAGE: LET'S BURN!

While not much is known of Ozz 117's past, it is rumored that he was heavily involved with the actions of the OSS during the early days of the war. It was this training that taught Ozz 117 to specialize his weapon loadout for each mission. Following Ozz 117's lead, the Heavy Rangers have begun to modify their weapons to be even deadlier.

The Heavy Ranger Tank-Hunter Squad's Automatic Bazookas and Ozz 117's Flamethrower both gain the Phosphorus skill.

SUPPORT UNITS

Due to their ability to litter the battlefield with fire, Ozz 117 and his Dry Heat Platoon are best supported by weapons platforms at range so as to not get in the way of the destruction. Additional Heavy Rangers are regularly called upon to finish off whatever is left of the enemy that Ozz 117 and his men have left to the flames while they seek out other targets.

Given their mobile nature, any of the M1 Light Walkers are a wise choice since they have the ability to keep pace with the fires Ozz 117 and his men often leave in their wake.
